Is your faith an artificial limb?

“For some people
religion is like an artificial limb.
It has neither warmth nor life;
And although it helps them stumble along,
it never becomes a part of them.
It must be strapped on each day.”

*Author unknown, quoted by
Fr. Mark Link, S.J. in Mission*

There are two kinds of religion. One that is man-made. It is reduced to a set of rules and rituals. That is the religion of the pharisees in today's Gospel. Many of us have reduced the catholic faith to a religion like that. We wear our faith like an artificial limb. It has neither warmth nor life; and although it helps us stumble along, it never becomes a part of us. It must be strapped on each day.

Then there is the other kind of religion, the God given one that Jesus speaks about in today's Gospel. “The true Shepherd calls His own sheep by name and leads them out.... The sheep follow Him because they know His voice.” How can we know His voice? By reading the scriptures, receiving the Eucharist, going to confession, practicing every little bit of truth that we understand in the Word of God. Then our heart will become a fountain of living water swelling up into eternal life. (John 4) And we will follow Christ no longer because of rules, but because through Him, our heart will be drawn to the Father and will be filled with his abundant Life. We will still need the rules for guidelines, but not for our main motivation.

God Bless you, Fr. Pierre.
