The Real "Pursuit of Happyness!"

Dear Parishioners, St. Thomas Aquinas, A Dominican Friar who lived in the 13th century, reminds us that we all pursue happyness, of which God is its ultimate fulfillment for each one of us! Well, I thought it only proper to begin this New Year 2007 with some thoughts from the "real" Chris Gardner of "Pursuit of Happyness" fame as to what the pursuit of happiness/happyness truly means for him.

The following is an excerpt of an interview that beliefnet.com recently had with him: Do you think successes like yours are rare in the world? First of all, you have to define success. For me, it wasn't about the money. Money is the least significant aspect of wealth. My life story is really about...every parent who didn't have a parent and tried to give their child something that they did not have. And also, at the same time, it's about everyone who ever had a dream, and everybody was telling them no you can't do that, it won't happen. But they made it happen anyway. What were some of the things that you imparted to your son along the way? The most important...is that the most important thing about being a man is being responsible. And because I broke the cycle of men who are not there for their children, I'm going to have an influence on generations of my offspring that I probably will never meet. And that all started with me breaking the cycle here. A lot of people are wondering, why is "happyness" spelled with a "y" in the title of the movie? There was a place called "Happyness" that became very, very important to my son and I. They spelled happiness with a "y." It was Happyness Daycare Center. In the film and on the cover of the book, the Y is in a different color. I wanted that for a very particular reason because I want people to start thinking about, well, you and your happiness and what makes you happy... What constitutes happiness for you and your family? I am healthy. As a single parent with a lot of help, I've raised two children that have become fabulous, young people. And I am now in a position to do work that reflects my values that makes me happy. Did your Christian principles help you to get to where you are now? Oh, they still do. I was just at Church last Sunday. [My faith] is one of the strongest guiding forces in my life. You always say your mother provided you with strong spiritual genetics early on. What were some of those things that she taught you? My mom had too many of her own dreams denied, deferred, and destroyed. But she still instilled in me the idea that I could have dreams--and not just have dreams, but have the power and the responsibility to make them come true. And I am so thankful for that... Anything positive that I'm doing in my life now is directly attributed to my mom. Now that you're a success, how has it influenced your faith? Are you stronger in your faith now? Absolutely. I talk to God everyday, and I tell people sometimes [when] they want to ask me, "What's the secret?" and I tell them all, "Jesus loves me, he just likes you." How do you get Jesus to love you instead of like you? You have to talk to him everyday. And it's between you and him, and when it happens you're going to know. It's as simple as that--you'll just know...For the full interview, please go to: http://www.beliefnet.com/story/206/story_20658.html.
God Bless, Fr. Mark
