*“Life without Your presence here,
Life itself would disappear,
Nothing thrives apart from You!”*

-- from the sequence of the Pentecost

When my father died, when he breathed his last, I was holding him in my arms. I almost “felt” his spirit going out of him. The image I got was a door partly opened, and from it shone a bright yet gentle and warm light. I wished for a moment to follow my dad’s soul through the door of heaven. I had a foot on earth with my dad’s body, and a foot in heaven with his soul. Maybe the disciples felt something like that in the day of Ascension! Of course, the physical body of Christ did not stay with them but the resurrected body was to come back through the Eucharist and the Holy Spirit.

After my father died, my mom and I stayed for an hour by his bedside. At first, it felt like he was still there, in his body. Slowly the body became cold and stiff. Then I knew we could go. Dad was not there anymore.

Today, I think this is what happens to our soul when we let the Spirit of God go away. He is the soul of our soul. Without Him, our soul, our innermost self becomes dead, cold, stiff, empty, lost, unwanted, unloved. With Him, everything flourishes.

In a sense, Pentecost is the reversal of Ascension, of separation. The Spirit of Christ is back, not outside us but inside us, so that we become the body of Christ.

God bless you.
Fr. Pierre

"I DO NOT GIVE TO YOU AS THE WORLD GIVES TO YOU" Jn14:27

"I met a man who suffered from depression and bitterness for over 10 years. The Holy Spirit revealed to me an image of a set of Venetian blinds - but they were only half open. From this image, I knew that he was afraid to ask for and receive all the graces that the Lord was eager to give to him. But until he understood what these graces were, he would not receive Jesus' invitation of healing. He would never be at peace. So we talked and then we prayed..."

In the Gospel of John, Jesus says, “I give you peace, my peace I give to you. I do not give to you as the world gives to you.” A teaching on Grace and Peace will be discussed through a presentation on Evangelization through Healing on May 23 and May 24, here in St. Mary's Parish at 7pm. Jacqueline Loh is the guest speaker. She is currently in the process of completing her Master's Degree on Evangelization.
