Corner

6th Sunday of Easter
May 21st, 2006

"My house shall be called a house of prayer." Is 56,7

Dear parishioners, Here is the last installment of our suggestions for enhancing the quality of our Sunday Eucharistic celebrations:

7. It is tempting to think that when the doors between the foyer and the church are closed, the sounds produced in the foyer don't penetrate into the church. Mistake! If anything, the foyer amplifies the sounds produced in it. We hear everything in the church, whether the doors are closed or not. If for some reason you happen to be in the foyer during mass, please consider that you are in fact, in the church, and maintain, as much as possible, the same silence that you would maintain if you were in a pew.

8. Lastly, dress code. This is a delicate issue! Standards for what is acceptable attire in church vary widely from person to person. There is no way we can be specific in this area. We ask only that you have a concern for modesty – not only your own standard of modesty, but modesty as other people in the church might define it. It is a matter of striving to avoid giving offense to others, even though one's own conscience is clear. It is the Christian thing to do. (1 Co 10,23-11,1)

To conclude: -The list of suggestions we have made may seem long, but if you re-read it, you will see that with the exception of the last item on the list, (i.e., dress code), we are asking no more than what are standard expectations in any cinema or theatre. It all seems very fair.

-Behind every request and suggestion we have made here, there is a single reason: consideration for fellow Christians, who have come to Church with you on a Sunday with the legitimate hope of having an experience of prayer.

-Having everyone feel comfortable in our church remains our prime concern. "As much as is reasonably possible" are the key words, repeated often in the suggestions we have submitted to your consideration. There will be an occasional reminder of the suggestions we have made, but little more.

We appeal to your understanding and appreciation of the reasons for which we have made these requests. We hope that they will meet with your approval, thanks to widely shared good will, consideration for others, and concern for the common good.

Thank you for your attention and patience as we have walked with you through these suggestions over the past three weeks. Thank you for your help in enhancing the prayerful quality of our celebrations at St. Mary's.

God bless, Fr. Guy
